1. Writing a Recipe and Storytelling

The module will introduce you to the elements and structure of a recipe and how to write a well-structured recipe. It will also introduce you to different types of online spaces that can be used to publish and share written texts

2. Narrating a Recipe

The "Module 2. Narrating a recipe" focuses on preparing you for narrating a recipe, both as a presentation and a podcast. The module will help you learn how to deal with public speaking anxiety. Furthermore, it will prepare you for planning and recording your own podcast show. You'll learn more about podcasts and their rising popularity and get acquainted with some of the most popular food-related podcasts.

3. Recording a Recipe

This module will prepare you for planning and recording your own recipe on video. You will learn about how to set up and prepare your workstation to record a quality video; how to get the most out of your recording equipment, and which social media platforms are best to share your video content to reach the widest audience and achieve the best results!

4. Communication Online

This "Communication Online" module is about online communication, and you will have the opportunity to learn about online communication in a comprehensive way, covering various topics along the way.

5. Organizing Food Sharing Events

Module 3 is all about planning and hosting a food-sharing event. By the end of this module, you'll be able to expertly plan and execute your event.

Explore Our Approach

Intercultural Communication

The Taste of Harmony project plans to increase the target groups' quality of interaction with other members of their community by increasing intercultural communication, motivation competences, better cooperation and communication through ICT tools. The desired result is to also have more competent and professional AE that can progress beyond their traditional approach to and culture of education.

Lifelong Learning

The project aims to build the capacity of staff in adult education institutions– seeing each staff member as an ambassador of lifelong learning and active participation in society that has the potential to improve learning experiences and quality of life for all learners. We need to raise awareness, and more importantly, staff competencies for reaching and motivating adults to participate more in online and face-to-face activities and communities.
